

BELL WOODTURNERS

JULY 9, 2009

Club Collaborative Project

The Bell Wood Turners collaborative project was displayed at the National Symposium in Albuquerque, New Mexico. The project won first place in the fantasy division. A picture of the project is posted on the AAW website. Everyone that worked on the project should be proud of this accomplishment.

June Club Demo

The June Demo was done by John Sanders. John demonstrated the use of the Wagner texturing tool. This is a new tool that comes in three different sizes. It is used for adding diamonds and other patterns to your wood turnings. John made a wood acorn, hollowed the inside and then textured the top. This was John's first demo and he did an excellent job. We look forward to seeing him demonstrate again in the future.

Demo-Sale Day

The Demo-Sale will be on July 11, 2009 - that's this Saturday. We need five items donated for the hourly drawings. If you have a small bowl or other item to donate tell Tony. We also need demonstrators for the day and helpers to manage the various duties for the visitors. Each visitor gets a free weed pot so we need each member to turn a few. Turning weed pots is also good practice.
